

FAMILY HISTORY AWARDS

(1983-1999 notes prepared by Colleen Read, 28 December 2000)

BRIEF HISTORY (1983-2000)

An informal meeting chaired by Theo Sharples was called on 23 March 1983 to discuss the possible introduction of Family History Awards. Also present were Marjorie Jacklyn and Roger McLennan. After a further two meetings a report was forwarded to the AGM held 4 June 1983 recommending entries be called for the inaugural award to close on 30 Sep 1983. A further report was submitted to the executive meeting held on 15th October 1983 recommending that the award be named the Genealogical Society of Tasmania Family History Award, to be judged in two sections: (1) a book published in hard cover, (2) a manuscript. It was also recommended that the award be biennial. However in 1985 entries were called for one category only (book), an award for the other category (manuscript) being held the following year. In 1988, to celebrate the Bicentennial Year, entries were again invited for both sections. At the State Executive Meeting on 21 November 1992, three categories were introduced, the competition to be held over a three year period on a rotational basis, viz – Manuscript (handwritten or typed not reproduced for sale etc); Home produced (typed or computer printout, then photocopied); Commercially produced book (typeset, printed, bound etc).

In 1996 the award was renamed the "Lilian Watson Family History Award" to honour the memory and the contributions to genealogy and family history of founding member Mrs Lilian Watson who was elected inaugural Fellow in 1995, and passed away March 1996. It was also resolved that the judging panel should consist of a genealogist plus two others chosen from: a qualified librarian; a writer or literary critic of note; and an historian or compiler of historical or archival material.

In the following list, the branch to which the work was donated is shown if known.
